NEW YORK

was first settled in 1612 by the Dutch, under Hendrick Hudson, when it received the name of New Amsterdam. It was annexed to the British Colonies under the treaty of Ryswick, to the discomfiture of the last Dutch Governor, Peter Stuyvesant, and the name changed to New York. Alternately occupied by the British and Americans during the Revolution, it was finally evacuated by the English troops, in 1783. It has grown from the little hamlet, with its stockade and ditch encircling it, and, at the farthest northern limit, running along what is still called after it, Wall Street, to the wide-armed city which, including the suburban towns and cities of New Jersey and Long Island, as it fairly may in a comprehensive comparison, though there are municipal divisions, covers a wider area than London, and shelters a wider population than any other city on the globe, except London. The name Manhattan Island is applied to old New York, viz: the territory below Harlem River, which stream connecting Hudson (or North) River on the west with the "East" River and Long Island Sound at "Hell Gate" on the east, forms an island, which, until recently, was the limit of the city, the upper portion being called Harlem. Now, however, the city limits extend north into Westchester County some 73 miles above Harlem River, including Woodlawn Cemetery, a distance of 16 miles from the Battery and covering an area of 24,805 acres, or 39 square miles. It is, in many parts, a beautiful city. In others, busy evidence of thrift and industry shows where the wealth comes from which, rightly directed, makes the beauty possible. New York is a great manufacturing city, as well as a great commercial mart, and home of science, art and education. The talent of the globe gravitates to New York, where it is usually more largely rewarded than elsewhere. Its pulpits, platforms and philanthropists are famous. It is the City of Charities, and while abounding in means for the relief of domestic distress, has a hand ever open at the cries of the afflicted everywhere.

Means of transportation are good on Manhattan Island, and owing to its narrow formation one's bearing may always be taken from Broadway, the great artery of traffic, running its entire length north and south. Nearly all the elevated roads start from the vicinity of the Battery, with frequent stopping places. The fare is ten cents, except between certain hours both morning and evening, when it is five cents. Hence, too, go the horse car lines of the Belt Railway, encircling the lower part of the city. Nearly all the up-town horse car routes converge near the City Hall, those running along the east side of the city being congregated between the Post Office and the Herald office, those belonging to the west side starting from Vesey and Barclay Sts., immediately opposite. The simplest way for a stranger to find the precise conveyance he wants is to ask the nearest policeman. The police are instructed to give, politely, all such information, and will point out and describe any special objects of interest which may attract the stranger's attention. The horse car and omnibus fares are uniformly five cents.

There is a horse car or elevated railroad line on nearly every thoroughfare running north and south of Manhattan Island, while at short intervals there are cross-town routes connecting the ferries to Brooklyn, Long Island City, Astoria and Hunter's Point, on the east side, with the ferries on the North River to Jersey City and Hoboken.

Guide to Points of Interest in New York.

Hack fares are $1 a mile, 50c. extra for additional miles up to four miles, 75c. extra above that; twenty blocks north and south or seven blocks between avenues count a mile. Refer to "Cab and Coach Fares" given in this book, pages 71 and 72).

The respective trades of New York have as a rule crystallized in a remarkable way. For instance, starting from the Battery the shipping and produce interests almost monopolize the lower section of the city, extending far round on the eastern and western water fronts. The great ocean steamship lines are also represented here. at and about Bowling Green, while their docks are mostly on the North River. The men who deal in money and securities haunt Wall and Broad Streets, while banks and insurance offices crowd the fine buildings of Broadway thence up to and beyond the City Hall. The oil dealers congregate at the lower end of Maiden Lane and circumiacent streets. The tobacco men are all in a heap about Pearl, Pine and Cedar Streets. The jewelers monopolize Maiden Lane near Broadway, and have made a start uptown to engross Bond Street also. The soap, sugar and a good many of the produce men, chiefly supplying domestic markets, extend their stores along

Greenwich and Washington streets, from Fulton to Duane streets. The crockery trade flourishes around Park place and Barclay street, while just across the city, a block or so away from the City Hall, is the famous "Swamp," where everybody thinks "there is nothing like leather."

The newspapers are nearly all near the City Hall, on both sides of the park, but chiefly on what are known as Park row and Printing House square. Chambers, Warren and Murray streets, all adjacent to the chief city and county buildings, are devoted mainly to the great hardware interest, strangely enough sharing part of their space with and merging into a district where boots and shoes, saddlery and leather manufactures generally have the most important place.

The variety shows and Cheap Johns fill the Bowery with cheap glitter and clamor. Chatham street is a paradise for pawnbrokers and the cheaper auctioneers, etc. The great dry goods region begins with a few outlying pickets in Duane street, fills all the cross streets up to Canal street, with commission, jobbing and auction houses, and contests with notion houses Broadway up to Broome street. The clothing trade, one of the most important of metropolitan manufacturing and commercial interests, has gradually worked its way upward from the regions about Duane to Bleecker street.

The scientific persons congregate about Second avenue and Tenth street. Artists and the dramatic guild are established chiefly near Union Square.

The musical instrument, sewing machine, millinery, and the fine retail trades generally inhabit Union Square, Fourteenth street and Broadway, down to Ninth street and up to Madison Square.

Starting from the Battery, among the nearest objects of interest we pass Washington's Head-quarters at Bowling Green, and have a splendid view of Broadway as far as Grace Church at Tenth street. The spire of Trinity Church looms grandly over Wall street, where the Sub-Treasury, the Custom House, Stock Exchange, and Banks and Insurance Offices innumerable, many of them of exquisite architecture.

The Equitable Life Insurance Building, with Weather Bureau in its upper story, at the corner of Cedar street, the Mutual at the corner of Liberty, the Coal and Iron Exchange in Cortlandt street, the new Boreel Building by Thames street, the Western Union Telegraph Building at the corner of Dey street, with the electric Time Ball, which falls every day at noon, the Evening

Post at Fulton, the Mutual Building in Nassau, corner of Liberty are all superb specimens of business architecture, fire proof and commodious. St. Paul's Chapel, where Washington worshiped, calmly faces the Park Bank and the Herald office, is dominated over by the magnitude of the new Post Office, which hides the graceful old City Hall, that in its turn veils the Tweed County Court House and Stewart's former wholesale store.

Trips to Washington Market on the West side and to Fulton Market on the East, are desirable. The fruits, fish and vegetables of every clime are here displayed, and without a visit to Dorlon's and writing autographs in the famous register filled with the sign manual of nearly every distinguished man or woman who ever spent a week in New York, a trip to the great city would be incomplete.

The Parisian lightness and elegance of Upper New York will strike any eye with delight. From Washington Square northward there are on Fifth, Madison and Lexington avenues and Broadway constant panoramas of superb churches, residences and business palaces. Twenty-third street is also graced with the buildings of the Young Men's Christian Association, the Masonic Temple,

Guide to Points of Interest in New York.

Eden Musee, the Musical College, Art Gallery, &c., while Fourth avenue, adjacent, is crowded with elegant churches and hotels, and further up boasts the Grand Central Depot, with imposing churches clustering round it, the Vanderbilt Tunnel, and the grand new armory of the Seventh Militia. Madison Square, the great lung of Murray Hill, is charming, and the inclosed garden (once Barnum's Hippodrome) adjoining is famous for its concerts, flower shows and pedestrian matches.

Central Park, in itself and surroundings, is replete with attractions which it would take a volume to even catalogue. It is one of the points which must be "taken in," and to be seen to advantage it requires several visits, as its most charming features can only be reached on foot. Park carriages start from the Fifth and Eighth avenue entrances, conveying, with a system of transfer tickets, the stranger to all points accessible in a vehicle, for the uniform charge of 25 cents. The drives through and beyond it to Harlem, Washington Heights, Jerome Park, Woodlawn Cemetery and other favored spots in Westchester County, are enchanting. The philanthropic may feel interested in the noble Hospitals which abound in the City of Charities, or, if blest with official friends, pay a visit to the institutions on Blackwell's and Ward's Islands. Bellevue Hospital and the Tombs. The military man would do well to go to Fort Wadsworth on Staten Island, and then to see Governor's Island, and extend his rambles to Fort Hamilton on Long Island, commanding the Narrows, opposite Fort Wadsworth. To do this, he must needs cross to Brooklyn; where the Navy Yard, Greenwood Cemetery and Prospect Park are well worth seeing, and the twin towers of the great bridge hover over the ferries. And when he has got so far, a twelve minute ride will take him to Conev Island, of the delights of which no word need be said, and which can also be reached direct by steamboat communication from New York.

How New York is Supplied with Water.

A liberal supply of water is one of the first conditions of health and safety. What would a city with a population of nearly one million and a half do without water? In 1659 there were eleven public wells on Manhattan used specially for watering horses and extinguishing fires. Families depended upon private wells in their own yards. Following and previous to 1840, the water was supplied by the Manhattan Water Works, and distributed through wooden pipes, the source being a natural spring located between Broadway and Center, Chambers and Reade Streets. Then plan followed plan until in 1842 there was completed the most stupendous and magnificent enterprise of the kind in modern times. A dam was thrown across Croton river (distant from New York city some forty-one miles), which raised the water 40 feet, forming Croton Lake, from whence it is carried through aqueducts massively built, running through many miles. It is then brought across a bridge of granite over Harlem river (called High Bridge, which is 1450 feet long and supported by 15 high arched piers), and distributed in the various storage reservoirs, the main one being located in Central Park, of 35 acres in extent, holding 150,000,000 gallons. The Croton ranks among the purest streams of the world. With a new aqueduct now building, the total cost from 1842, including the new one, will amount to over $50,000,000. Over 350 miles of iron pipe distribute the water to the inhabitants. To see Croton Aqueduct and High bridge, which is one of the sights of the city, take the 6th avenue elevated to 155th St.

The Astor Library.

Lafayette and Astor Place.

Was projected by John Jacob Astor, and subsequently enlarged by his son, Wm. B. Astor. This library contains nearly 1,000,000 books and is the largest and finest library room in America. It is free to the public, and is open daily from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., except Saturday, when it is only open from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m. A visitor can call for any book catalogued, but is not allowed to take it from the building. There are spacious rooms set apart for both males and females to read in. This library is a great boon to bible students, mechanics, ministers, bookworms, and those having references to hunt up. Take Broadway, 3d or 4th avenue cars to Astor Place, or 3d and 6th avenue Elevated Roads.

Bulls and Bears of Wall Street.

Where Millions are Made and Lost.

It is a true statement that in New York there are more extensive and daring speculators than is contained in any other city in the world. Rich to-day and poor to-morrow seems to be their motto. One can see the modus operandi of how millions are rapidly made and lost by a visit to the great New York Stock Exchange on Broad street near Wall. trance for visitors being on Wall between Broad and New streets, one block from Trinity Church. In times of excitement and when a panic is in the air, the noise and confusion to be heard and seen is deafening: a thousand tongues are working at the same time, making a rumbling and peculiar acoustic sound, which prevents the visitor from being able to distinguish what is said; this is even the case upon ordinary The Broadway cars or 6th avenue Elevated Road will take the visitor almost directly to this place. The Home of the Vicious, and Suffering Humanity.

Blackwell's Island is a narrow strip of land in the East River, extending from 51st to 88th street, one-half mile in length, containing 120 acres; originally owned by the Blackwell family and used as a residence. Was purchased by the City July 19th, 1828, for $30,000. The massive building, docking, grading and other work was performed by inmates of the Penitentiary and Work House, and is now valued at $1,000,000 exclusive of the buildings. The Penetentiary and Work House are located here and kept continually filled by daily importations from the Police Courts of New York. One can see here many hospitals, immense in size and filled with pauperdom; also Lying-in asylums, Lunatic asylums, including the Mad House with padded cells, in which are placed those of the frenzied and unruly kinds, also Alms Houses, Warden's residence, and many other substantial buildings devoted to special uses. Tickets are required to visit this place, which can be procured at the office of the Commissioners of Charity and Correction, corner 11th street and 3rd avenue. After being furnished tickets take a 3rd avenue car passing the door to 26th street and walk east to the river about two blocks, where a steamboat owned by the city authorities, leaves for the Island at short intervals.

Greenwood Cemetery.

With its more than 2500 monuments, some of which have cost fortunes, is without doubt the most elegantly (if such a word can be used) laid out cemetery extant. It is situated in Brooklyn, on Gowanus Heights, ahout 2½ miles from South Ferry. The surface graded at immense expense, is beautifully undulating and diversified, producing constant and gratifying changes of scenery, having 17 miles of broad carriage roads, constructed of stone ann neatly bordered with gravel, with about the same number of miles of foot path, covered with concrete pavements free from dust and mud, and conducting the visitor to every part. The monument of Charlotte Canda, costing a princely sum, is one of the most noted on the grounds. This point of interest can be reached via Brooklyn Bridge, Fulton or South Ferries, and taking cars on the Brooklyn side,

Calvary Cemetery.

Is another well planned cemetery and is situated in Newtown, L. I., (about two miles from East 10th St. Ferry), having over 75 acres. It is likewise handsomely laid out, and has many fine and costly monuments. To reach this place take the ferries at the foot of 10th, 23d St. or Grand and Roosevelt Street Ferries, East river.

To give a complete description with its menagerie of living animals, gay plumaged birds, its beautiful and ornamental fountains, terraces, stairways, sculptures, statuary, rustic arbors and the velvety appearance of the grasses and foliage would fill a good sized book. It is visited by about 10,000,000 annually, and is the favorite resort of all One never wearies with the repeated yet diversified exhibitions of genius, beauty and taste. Before being purchased by the city and transformed into its present appearance, it was land that was considered worthless on account of its rocky soil.

While driving or walking in Central Park you may chance to see sauntering along a gentleman with small parcel in hand, looking quite like the one shown in the accompanying figure. From his bright expectant look you will conclude that he has taken impressions from his surroundings which are alasting source of satisfaction, and you will judge rightly if you will observe on closer inspection the name stamped upon the case

A Colossus Statue.

Presented by France to America.

Bartholdi's Statue of Liberty Enlightening the World is the largest statue in the world. The Colossus of Rhodes is nothing compared to it. Some idea of its magnitude can be understood when it is known that 40 persons stood within its head at the same time; a six foot man standing on the level of the lips only reached to the eyebrow; fifteen persons can sit around the flame of the torch, which elevation is reached by a spiral stair case within the outstretched arm. When in position it will be 305 feet above tide water and very much higher than either the Brooklyn Bridge towers or Trinity steeple. 246,000 pounds of wrought iron and 176,000 pounds of copper has been used in its construction. The height of the statue itself is 151.2 feet, the pedestal 91 feet, and the foundation 52.10 feet. It took eight years in its construction. is located on Bedloe's Island, New York Bay, about one mile distant from the Battery. A steamboat now runs to the island every few hours from Pier 1. The cut on the front cover of this Guide is an official and correct representation of the statue.

Uncle Sam's Revenue.

The Custom House.

The Custom House occcupies the square block corner Wall and William streets. It was originally built for the Merchant's Exchange, and was erected on the site of the old one which was destroyed by the terrible and devastating fire of 1835. The Government subsequently bought this building for $1,-000,000; to-day it is worth $3,000,000. About half a million dollars in revenue is received here almost every day, in the shape of Custom duties on goods imported from foreign coun-From one hundred and fifty to two hundred millions is received yearly. All foreign and coastwise steamers and vessels must show to the officials here a correct copy of their manifest, and also deposit their register before leaving port. The main point of interest to the visitor in connection with this place is the immense columns fronting the building, immense in height and quarried of solid stone. In the interior visitors can enter the gallery and get a glimpse of a bee hive of clerks, busily working at their several tasks.

A Building Lined with Gold and Silver. The Sub-Treasury.

Just think of it, $186,000,000 in gold, silver and bills in one building; yet this enormous sum of money could be found in the vaults of the Sub, Treasury, on January 4th, 1886- This building is located on Wall, corner Nassau street. and was originally intended for the Assay Office and Custom House; it is now scarcely sufficient for the demands of the sub-treasury. This building can be said to be almost impregnable against assault and fire, the walls of the first story being from five to six feet thick; the roof is also of solid stone, and four feet The very handsome carved work to be seen in the interior is even cut into the solid stone. For further protection they have an armory of their own, and about twenty-five men heavily armed are on duty night and day, guarding this great The moneys received from the Post Office are deposited here daily; checks of disbursing officers are also made payable here; in fact, this is the Government's great banking A heroic size statue, in bronze, of Gen. Washington is appropriately placed on the steps of this building. the original stone on which he stood to take the oath as the first President of the United States can be seen; this of itself is worth a visit. Strangers are not allowed to visit the vaults in the sub-treasury except through the courtesy and permission of the officials in charge. The Broadway cars and 6th avenue Elevated pass within a block.

Gen. Grant's Tomb.

The temporary tomb containing the remains of Gen. Grant is situated in Riverside Park, between 123d and 124th streets, on the West side, and fronting the Hudson river. Until the grand monument is completed his remains will rest here, when they will be placed under the monument, the latter will be located a few feet distant from the present vault. A detachment of soldiers from the U. S. Army are at present acting as guard. Visitors will find it convenient to to take the 6th avenue Elevated Road to this point.

Over 60,000 patients successfully treated in 14 years, a large proportion of whom had previously been sick for years after unsuccessful treatment by the best physicians of all schools, different sanitariums, various natural resorts, shops of nostrum mongers, and months of hygienic traveling.

A valuable pamphlet and treatise will be sent free to any address, containing statements and commendations of our Oxygen treatment from some of the most distinguished persons (who have been cured) including letters, from the Hon. William D. Kelley, of great Congressional fame, Rev. Victor L. Conrad of the Observer, Rev. Charles W. Cushing, Editor in Chief of the American Reformer, Hon. Wm. Penn Nixon, Editor of the Chicago Inter-Ocean, Judge Joseph R. Flanders, of N.Y. City, the well known lawyer and former law partner of Hon. Wm. H. Wheeler, Vice-President of the U.S., Frank Siddalls, Esq., of Philadelphia, the great advertiser, and many others.

Those in ill health are cordially invited to call or send for our treatise, and see how highly these eminent and other persons bespeak the praises of our Compound Oxygen treatment,

Corner of 11th Street and 2d Avenue.

Persons desiring to find out anything about the early history of New York let them visit this most interesting place, and they can get all the necessary information. Anything and everything connected with its early career is here represented in some shape or form; relics, books, valuable manuscripts, and late geographical discoveries. In tearing down the old Dutch church, erected in 1729 [subsequently used for the Post Office and on which now stands the Mutual Life Insurance Co's Building corner Liberty and Nassau streets. A search was made for the box presumed to have been deposited in the corner stone; this was finally found, and with its valuable contents was placed with the Historical society. The latter have also a large and rare collection of Indian and other antiquities, also portraits of New York's early Governors, besides a foreign collection, including some Egyptian Mummies taken from the Catacombs, &c. This Society is supported mainly by well known and influential citizens, including judges, merchants and others interested in preserving in its archives relics, and reminiscences of early days. Strangers or others desiring to visit this place can apply for tickets of admission to any of the members, who will be pleased to extend any courtesies in this direction. #### Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Central Park, 83d Street near 5th Avenue.

This Museum contains a choice and rich collection of magnificent paintings by both modern and the old masters, many of them costing thousands of dollars each. The many beautiful marble statues of life and heroic size is another important feature on exhibition which calls for the admiration of visitors. The stone, bronze and iron ages, etc., are represented here in shape of rare coins, jugs, pottery and thousands of other ancient and valuable articles. Many of the statuary and other articles exhibited have been discovered and dug up on the Island of Cyprus, under the immediate supervision of Gen. Di Cesnola, and brought to this country by him. To visit the Metropolitan Museum of Art is indeed a great treat. building was presented by the City. It is supported mainly by the well-to-do residents of New York, and is free to the public Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday; on Monday and Tuesday (members' day) a charge of twenty-five cents is made. The Egyptian Obelisk is appropriately located about 200 yards away. Fourth Avenue cars pass within a block of the Museum.

American Museum of Natural History.

Located in Central Park.

This Museum is one of the standard attractions to both residents and strangers. Visitors can see here an astonishing number of stuffed and mounted serpents, mammals, curious skeletons, animals of every kind and shape, dolphins and every specimen of representative fishes, four thousand varieties of beetles and other insects, sponges of all sizes and kinds from the East Indies, and a thousand and one other curiosities. The building alone cost some $500,000, the exhibits amount to almost an equal value. To reach this point direct take 6th avenue elevated, or Broadway, 6th, 7th, or 8th avenue surface cars; the latter pass the building.

Open and free to the public Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, including Public Holidays. On Monday and Tuesday, (members' day), an admission fee of twenty-five cents is charged. Not open on Sunday.

The Population of New York at Different Periods.

Interesting Figures.

The growth of New York City has been very rapid, as statistics will show:—1656 the population amounted to 1,000; in 1664, to 1,500; in 1700, to 5,000; in 1750, to 13,500; in 1774, to 22,750; in 1800, to 60,489; in 1820, to 123,706; in 1830, to 202,589; in 1840, to 312,932; in 1850, to 515,547; in 1860, to 813,669. In 1865 the census showed a decrease in the population, owing to the war and the disorganized condition of various industrial pursuits, and is given at 726,376; the census of 1870 places the population at 942,252; the census of 1880 shows this population over 1,250,000. What will it be in 100 years from now?

Refining the Precious Metals. The Assay Office.

A visitor on entering the smeltering department in the Assav building is forcibly reminded of the kitchen in a large hotel; but instead of iron and tin kettles, crucibles are used, and instead of bouillion soup the real bullion (gold and silver) takes its place. Here is where gold and silver ore and bullion as it comes from the mine or otherwise, is assayed, refined and ready for coining. Many persons labor under the impression that this is a mint for coining money; this is not the fact. Mine owners, bankers and others frequently send in ore and bullion to be assayed, in which case two experts separately assay it; if their figures and reports do not agree, the operation must be repeated until the correct result is obtained. Deposits of gold and silver bullion are made here; the silver is returned in bars; for gold, coin is returned or bars if desired; coin is paid out when required for shipment. Any person can have an assay made here of the precious metals. The six large vaults sometimes contain as high as $1,000,000 in silver, and $50,000,000 in gold. The scales used for weighing are so delicately balanced that in weighing 1000 ounces the one thousandth part of an ounce will turn the scales. In the process of refining absolutely nothing is wasted, even the fumes of the chemicals used are condensed on coke and sold to farmers for fertilizing purposes. Hitherto only one day in the week was allowed to visitors; now, however, through the courtesy of Mr. Mason, the present superintendent, visitors are permitted at all seasonable hours to see this wonderful refinery.

The Tombs.

Who has not heard of the Tombs, the Egyptian pile of granite, covering a square block on Centre, Elm, Franklin and Leonard streets. A number of city prisons are scattered over the city, but this is the main one. It is the temporary abode of prisoners incarcerated previous to being tried by the higher Courts. Within the building are also two Courts, the Police and Court of Special Sessions. This is the place where murderers are executed. It has about 148 cells for males, including Murderers' Row, also a number of cells for females. When a criminal is to be executed a scaffold is rapidly erected in one of the yards in the enclosure. To the amatuer phrenologist, here is a place where humanity can be studied in all its different phases, from the genteel looking gentleman accused of embezzlement or other misdemeanor, to the brutal murderer, drunkard and professional burglar. The Tombs was built in 1838, on a water site called the Collect Pond. Tickets of admission are required and can be secured at the office of the Commissioners of Charity and Correction., 11th street and 3d avenue. Take the Broadway or 4th avenue cars and get off at Franklin street or the 6th avenue Elevated Road to Franklin street, and walk east three blocks. This is a highly interesting place to visit.

Broadway, near Astor Place, is open and free to visitors, where may be seen hundreds of Busts, Casts, Portraits and sketches of Men and Women, noted and notorious, from all classes, including Statesmen, Soldiers, Lawyers, Divines, Inventors, Philanthropists, etc.; with Murderers, Pirates, and others from the lower walks of life, with many recent additions. #### Trinity Steeple.

Have you been up Trinity Steeple? This question if put to a majority of residents of New York City would be answered by them in the negative, yet this is the Mecca where strangers visit. One can ascend the high steeple and get a magnificent view for many miles around, of New York and its suburbs, beautiful Bay and Rivers. Adjoining the church is a large enclosed cemetery, where the bones of the great and distinguished have been lying buried for hundreds of years, including those of the famous Charlotte Temple. In the interior of the church can be observed the magnificently carved Rederos (altar), costing $30,000, and presented as a memorial by the Astor family. Trinity Church with its large estate and many millions is the wealthiest church corporation in the world. It substantially supports a number of other churches, missions and schools of its own denamination, (Episcopal), and other worthy objects wnich are to a certain extent under its immediate control and supervision. The distinguished divine Rev. Morgan Dix, son of the late General John A. Dix, is at the present time its rector. The Broadway surface and 6th avenue Elevated Road pass this point.

The building located at the above address, though not particularly large, is still one before which the observer will pause to glance at with its Gothic windows and marble walls of many colors collected from various parts of Europe and America. The visitor is not slow to conclude that the exterior of this building is indeed one of design. The society was formed in 1826 on the same plan as the Royal Art Exhibition of London. The present quarters were erected in 1865. The corporation consists solely of artists; the latter exhibit their paintings twice a year, in the spring and autumn; at these exhibitions connoisseurs and lovers of the canvas, can always be found at these assemblages. When the exhibition is over a sale generally takes place of a majority of the paintings, which are sold for the benefit of the contributing artists. The American Water Color Society also exhibit their pictures here. school is connected where students and beginners are taught how to handle the pencil and brush at a trifling expense. #### How Business is Done in New York.

While business is essentially the same the world over, it is particularly true of New York that business is reduced to a science. In a great commercial centre like the Metropolis. abundant scope is afforded for the play of the largest and rarest talents. Nearly every man has his specialty which he plies, paying little attention to the rest of the world. If one thought predominates over all others, it is that of dispatch. Everything is on a run, and everybody from butcher to banker is in a hurry. Steamboats, horse cars and other conveyances are too slow to satisfy the desires of the rushing masses Schemes for rapid transit, in every conceivable shape, meet with thousands of advocates, through the ever present desire to hasten travel and facilitate trade. If you call on a business man, however important your errand, you must be able to state it tersely and at once, or you will be summarily dismissed without a hearing. Everything goes on the old maxim "Time and Tide wait for no man."

"The Beehive of the Metropolis."

HOTEL RED BOOK

FOR 1886.

(United States Official Hotel Directory.)

This is something that has long been needed and asked for by Hotel Proprietors, Clerks, Guests, Travelers and Merchants.

The HOTEL RED BOOK (U. S. Official Hotel Directory), will contain a complete and reliable list of hotels in the United States and Canada, large and small, leading and otherwise, and also Summer and Winter resorts. An additional and important feature in connection with the book is that it will give the names of Railroads and Water routes reaching or passing the Town or City wherein the hotels are located; also the population and whether a Money order or Telegraph office is located in the place. Making it as a book of reference one of the most necessary, useful and convenient publications ever issued for the use of Hotel Proprietors, Managers, Clerks, Guests, Travelers and Merchants.

The HOTEL RED BOOK will be a large book, having about 500 pages, and will be handsomely bound in red. It will also contain a number of illustrations of the prominent hotels of the country.

PRICE, $3.00. ORDERS NOW RECEIVED.

Address orders and communications to the

HOTEL PUBLISHING AND ADVERTISING CO.

Publishers of Hotel Publications,

265 & 267 Broadway, N. Y.

The above named directory is now in press, and will be shortly issued. It will be found on the counters of every first-class hotel in the United States and Canada.
